You are encouraged to call if:

- you would like more information about brain injury. For example, how the injury affects siblings, return to work or school, or coping with changes after brain injury.
- you would like to learn where the closest survivor/family support group meets in your area of the state.
- you need to learn about specific resources available in your home community, for example, those offered through county agencies or the Bureau of Vocational Rehabilitation.
- you would like to get in contact with other survivors/family members on an individual, one-to-one basis, either in your community or while in the hospital.
- you would like to explore resources available in the video lending library, or obtain available articles on a specific topic, such as long-term care, adjustment to disability issues, or marital stress and coping strategies.
